

Collective Responsibility

The people in charge have a collective responsibility to make sure all decisions benefit the country and its people, to make sure that all their needs are met!

The People Make the community the people are the community, a community makes a city, a city makes a province, and a province makes a state. These things are held together by the people of our communities!

My response: more affordable housing;less high rises, more farms;less factories, cheaper gas stations;functional bus routes, more car pools and also functional rehabilitation centres.
